

Motel Ruby Lee Mays Small Robbed By Pair Wins MPA Golf Event

The Holiday Inn, highway 61 south, was held up by two armed men this morning and more than $350 taken.

Eddie Ross, night clerk, said two Negro men carrying pistols came into the motel at 3 a.m. and demanded all the money he had in the cash register.

After taking the $350 from the motel and an undetermined amount from the restaurant the hold up men forced Ross out toward their waiting car, a 1967 cream colored Pontiac GTO. Upon reaching the highway the pair released Ross and told him to run back to the motel. They then sped away last on Interstate 57 heading toward Charleston.

The pair are described as bearded, six feet, weighing 170 pounds, wearing a black shirt and wearing a light shirt and a woman's bandana around his head.

In other activity: Gene Tyrone, route two, told police he saw a Negro boy get out of a 1958 Ford, occupied by six other Negro boys, and take $10 out of a purse. The purse had been in a car parked at Southside Cafe, Highway 61 south. The incident was reported to police at 2:22 a.m. this morning.

Illinois highway patrol informed Pat Chesser, Highway 61 north, they had found her red 1964 Grand Prix in the town of Ullin. They reported the motor was damaged.

The vehicle has been missing since Thursday night.

Police report two rear vehicle collisions.

Phillip Slinkered, Whitewater, reported he had stopped on South Main street in his 1969 Ford pickup truck at 5 p.m. Thursday when he was jolted by a blow from behind, an inside mirror was damaged.

Milton A. Brashears, 828 Matthews, the driver of the car said he didn't see the truck's brake lights. Brashears' 1966 Mustang had front end damage.

Elizabeth G. Miller, 309 Murray, told police yesterday she was going to turn left off Kingshighway in front of P.J. Auto Supply, 108 South Kingshighway, and accidentally ran into the rear of another car. Mrs. Miller's 1966 El Camino had damaged to the right fender and door.

The 1968 Buick driven by Breda M. Scott, 711 Moore St., had damage to the rear bumper.

Closed License Office to Reopen

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state license office at Bowling Green will reopen Monday and results of an audit there will be turned over to Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth to determine whether there is any basis for prosecution.

The office had been operated by Mrs. Shirley Butters, Democratic national committeewoman for Missouri, until Revenue Director James E. Schaffner closed it a week ago for an investigation of reported discrepancies in the accounts.

Unofficial reports have indicated there might be a shortage of $39,900. Mrs. Butters says the state actually owes her $51,000.

Mrs. Butters has not yet turned over the report on her last day of business and Schaffner said Friday it might be necessary to send someone to get it.

When it reopens, the office will be under the direction of Charles Moore, who conducts drivers' vision tests for the Revenue Department.

Dinis to Go on With Bid for Accident Probe

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — His plea for an inquest rejected in one court, Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis has turned to another to seek a full-scale inquiry into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's accident in which a Washington, D.C., secretary was killed.

Dinis first asked Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro of Superior Court to assign a judge for an inquest, but the justice turned down the application, saying the power to conduct inquests rests with district courts.

Dinis then sent letters Friday to Chief Judge Kenneth L. Nash of the Massachusetts District Court system, and to Judge James A. Boyle of the Dukes County District Court in Edgartown.

Kennedy appeared in the Edgartown court July 26 and pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of the accident, which occurred when a car he was driving plunged off a narrow bridge into a tidal pool on Chappaquiddick Island. Judge Boyle presided, and imposed the minimum sentence, two months in jail, and then suspended it for a year on probation.

The teacher, identified as Rupert M. Johnson of Festus, was booked suspected of felonious assault at the Jefferson County jail.

For Miller, the discovery of the device's contents ended nearly 12 hours of horror.

"He told me it was a time bomb, and only he himself could disarm it," Miller told police.

The device was made of four pieces of copper tubing, about one-half inch in diameter, and was fitted snugly by elbow joints.

Festus police called in bomb disposal experts from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., the Granite City, Ill., Army Depot, and the St. Louis Police Department.

An attempt to X-ray the device at a hospital in Festus, about 35 miles south of St. Louis, failed.

Use of a powerful industrial X-ray unit indicated that the device contained no mechanical parts.

The decision was made to lead Miller off the parking lot to some soft ground, and open the device.

Miller said: "They just unscrewed. There was just a string and a battery inside."

One of the bomb experts, asked when it was determined that the device was harmless, replied, "When they took it apart."

The drama began to unfold Friday afternoon when Johnson said.

Rudisale said only young Miller was at home, and Johnson asked him to accompany him to his own home to help convince Mrs. Johnson to buy a new car.

Miller said that when he and Johnson arrived at the Johnson home, the teacher pulled a .32 automatic revolver. The youth said he was blindfolded and gagged, and the device then was fitted around his neck.

"He was shaking," Miller said, "and he got angry every once in awhile."

Johnson released Miller and ordered him to telephone his father, Charles, who rushed to the Johnson residence. The three then returned to the Miller home, where the elder Miller said he eventually disarmed Johnson.

Then the police were called.

Dense crowds forced the motorcade to stop once. The spectators applauded and shouted greetings.

Bulgarians Greet Nixon Warmly

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — President Nixon arrived today in this Communist capital today to the most enthusiastic welcome of his world tour, with thousands shouting "Nix-on, Nix-on, Nix-on!" He told them the United States is ready to help set up a Europe "free from the fear of war or threats of war."

So great was the outpouring of Romanians that the motorcade carrying Nixon and President Nicolae Ceausescu was stopped three times en route from the airport to downtown Bucharest. Nixon left his car to shake outstretched hands.

Along the route the air rang with the shouts of his name as he called out in Romanian: "Long Live Romanian-American friendship." There were cries of "Hoo-rah" and some tossed bouquets at him. The throngs waved U.S. and Romanian flags.

Ceausescu had welcomed Nixon on his arrival from Pakistan stressing peaceful coexistence as "a safe way of building a climate of confidence." Riding with Nixon in an open limousine, he looked pleased by the tremendous reception for the first American president to visit a Communist capital. But he was more restrained than Nixon when he got out of the car to mingle with the crowds.

Once or twice Nixon was shoved off balance by the people pressing around him, but he never lost his footing.

Nowhere in the six Asian nations Nixon visited earlier on his 25,000-mile tour did the greeting crowds seem so genuinely friendly. Some Romanians appeared moved to the point of tears. Nixon obviously was elated.

Some Americans noticed that U.S. paper flags distributed to the people often tore loose from their small standards in the wind and Romanians stepped from the curbs to retrieve the Stars and Stripes as souvenirs.

Mrs. Nixon, riding in a separate car with Mrs. Ceausescu, blew kisses to the crowd. But she did not have the benefit of an open-top car so many in the crowds failed to get a glimpse of the American first lady.

Thousands of persons waving U.S. flags were at Otopeni Airport and welcoming signs were out as the President and Mrs. Nixon stepped from their plane, Air Force One, into the hot sunshine.

The entire city was in a festive mood, and the turnout along the 12-mile route from the airport to downtown Bucharest was so great that Romanian officials ordered the motorcade to slow down so spectators could get a good look at the President and his wife.

The people had been standing patiently for as much as five hours. Girls and women in bright summer dresses and men in sports shirts and business suits stood behind lines of soldiers.

Workers, who ordinarily quit at 1 p.m. on Saturday, were let off several hours early to be able to join in the welcome.

The slowdown of the motorcade meant that the early part of the program would be set back. But a Romanian television announcer told his audience: "The people want to greet President Nixon, so we are forced to reduce the speed of the convey."

Dense crowds forced the motorcade to stop once. The spectators applauded and shouted greetings.

Mystery Disease Reported

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Division of Health said Friday 15 cases of a so far unidentified disease, believed to be carried by mosquitoes, have been reported in the Pomme de Terre Reservoir area.

They said only one victim has been hospitalized. Federal health officials in Kansas City are assisting with laboratory work in an effort to diagnose the disease.

In a report issued through the office of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, the health officials cautioned the public to avoid being bitten by mosquitoes until the disease has been pinpointed, its method of transmission discovered and the proper treatment indicated.

Dr. E.A. Fullgrabe of the Missouri Health Division said victims of the illness complained of gastro-intestinal upsets and "rather severe headaches." He said the one person hospitalized was taken to Osceola and he could give no immediate report on his condition.

Apparently, Dr. Fullgrabe said, most of the victims were residents of the Wheatland Community in Hickory County who have been swimming in a cove at Pomme de Terre Reservoir.

The White House said Friday there will be no ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland, but he will be welcomed by officials when he arrives by helicopter on the south lawn of the executive mansion.

POW Release Reported Near

CHICAGO (AP)—The national chairman of the Remember the Pueblo Committee said today the committee has learned that North Vietnam will release by next Wednesday three American soldiers the Communists have been holding.

The Rev. Paul Lindstrom said the information came from the same U.S. government sources who disclosed to the committee last December the impending release of the crew of the USS Pueblo, a Navy intelligence ship then being held by North Korea. He declined to identify the source.

Arrangements for release of the three soldiers were worked out early today in a meeting in Ploesti, Romania, between two members of President Nixon's staff and representatives of North Vietnam, Lindstrom and his committee was told.

Nixon arrived in Bucharest today for a 27-hour visit and talks with Romanian officials.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

John Hitt of the Vogue Shop reports there is nothing new on the beach and swimming pools this summer, but none of it is evident!

JUSTICE GETS CLOSER

The campaign for the presidency of 1964 is now history. The two candidates - Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater - have gone their separate ways. Johnson, the victor, has retired to his Texas ranch, and Goldwater has been re-elected to his Arizona seat in the U. S. Senate. William White's book on the campaign is gone from the best seller lists and his work on the 1968 campaign will soon follow it on the charts.

The 1964 election was hard fought and at times close to the limit in terms of political infighting. The GOP withheld a controversial film entitled Choice, at Goldwater's personal request, because it was considered not in the interest of good campaign tactics. The film showed the moral breakdown in the nation, ranging from drunken driving to topless dancing. The Democrats used a lot of little girls picking daisies, dissolving into nuclear explosions. It was rough campaigning indeed.

One tactic in the 1964 for the White House ranks among the cruelest in political history. It drew the condemnation of both parties and with just cause. It was an alleged poll of the nation's psychiatrists on the mental condition of Senator Goldwater. The so-called poll was conducted by the now-defunct Fact magazine. The publisher was Ralph Ginzburg, convicted earlier for the publication of Eros, a magazine adjudged by the courts to be pornographic.

Ginzburg claimed that 1,189 psychiatrists found the Republican candidate to be mentally unfit to be president. Medical experts called the poll a farce. Goldwater sued and the courts found in his favor. That suit was appealed by Ginzburg and the U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the decision. Now Ginzburg will take the case to the Supreme Court. Five years have passed and the case is still not finished. We will be interested to see what the top court of the nation rules in this case. Whether or not one voted for the Senator is irrelevant. The issue is even more fundamental than political stance. It has been a technique of totalitarian forces throughout history - most recently refined by Hitler, Stalin and Mao to declare unsound those minds which disagree with the power structure.

Senator Goldwater was nominated by a major political party for the highest office in the land. If for no other reason, we feel he should not be downed by mail order analysis. We hope that the $75,001 judgment is approved.

As Bernard Rice remarked while clearing the driveway of bikes, trikes and wagons: "When I became a man, I put away childish things."

An engaged man hears all about the faults of his sweetheart's relatives, but she will deny after marriage that they have any faults.

While most of us sit around whistling in the dark over financial and economic conditions in the world today, and especially in the United States, we received a communique from a respected and worldly-wise friend in which he says, "It is no longer a question of whether or not the present Administration has jammed on the credit brakes, rather it is a question of how much a shock will be felt in the economy."

"Just this week one of our long-time clients dropped into the office. Believe me the questions he posed were no different from those that have been on your mind and our own for some time.

"How do you protect the savings for which you have worked so hard?

"How do you beat inflation?

"How much will the American businessman be affected if we are forced to devalue the dollar?

"Is there a simple solution to all of these problems?

"Can you get high current income and still find price appreciation possibilities anywhere?

"The question that intrigued us the most was, 'Can I get high current income - better than 7 per cent and a stock or bond appreciation?' You and I know that, on the face of it, the two normally seem contradictory. Today's markets are so unusual and the spread between bond and stock yields so fantastic, that we thought it could be possible.

"It comes down to the question of, 'Can you beat inflation with very high current yields, find a hedge against devaluation and place yields, find a hedge against devaluation and place yourself in such a position as to be able to obtain capital gains even though the industrial market is falling at a rapid rate?'

At this point, we will close this discussion because we aren't in the business of selling stocks and bonds, but we found some of his answers to these questions quite unusual - and far different than we've heard from anyone else.

And we haven't forgotten the words of the chairman of the Federal Reserve, Martin said, "If you stretch credit too far it breaks and there is a limit to the debt you can get into."

Even this country editor can see our chickens are coming home to roost.

You can tell that a boy is beginning to notice the girls by the way he is interested in a new suit of clothes beyond the number of pockets.

NUCLEAR PARITY OR SUPERIORITY?

Most citizens would agree that it would be absurd for our government to say to its avowed enemy:

"We will build up our defenses to a certain point and then we will stop." The enemy country would certainly make every effort to see that its offensive forces went beyond this point as soon as possible.

Yet, this is exactly what has happened over the last several years as the United States Defense Department has pursued an announced policy of "nuclear parity" with the Soviet Union. As advanced by former Secretary of Defense McNamara, this policy means that we would never attempt to develop a nuclear force superior to that of the Soviets.

If Mr. McNamara expected the Soviet Union to settle for equality, he was mistaken. The Russian Communists have given no indication that they intend to accept nuclear parity. Instead, all their efforts have been aimed toward achieving nuclear superiority over the United States.

Mr. McNamara has said that "there can be no victor in a nuclear war." He implied that because such a war would be very destructive, we should not build up a nuclear force. He did not seem to realize that the best way to prevent nuclear war is to have a superior nuclear force so that the enemy will be deterred from striking.

The new Secretary of Defense, Clark Clifford, has indicated some opposition to nuclear parity. Concerned citizens should strongly support any efforts by Mr. Clifford or others to build a strong deterrent force and end the dangerous policy of "nuclear parity," which is equivalent to unilateral disarmament.

The results of a study by the National Institute of Mental Health, as released by the American Medical Association, indicates that an estimated 2 per cent of the nation's school children need some sort of psychiatric help and at least two thirds of those under 18 who need such care are not getting it.

U. S. Savings Stamps - sold at post offices and through the School Savings Program - are an important part of the nationwide Savings Bonds Program. Encourage your youngsters to develop the habit of thrift by buying Savings Stamps which they may exchange for Bonds when they accumulate the price of a bond.

IT TICKLES US

The Soviet press has been playing the U. S. space program fairly straight lately. Coverage of the Apollo 10 mission was free of most of the anti-American commentary which went along with earlier reporting of U. S. space exploits.

But two incidents in the flight provided too much for Soviet more, says Aviation Week and Space Technology. One was the earthy exclamation voiced by Eugene Cernan when the lunar module momentarily went out of control - the same expletive, it may be remembered, that a certain Washington correspondent.

This was rendered in Russian as, "The devil take it!" The other was John Young's description of the dark side of the moon as "lit up like a Christmas tree." Since the Communists don't officially observe Christmas, this was translated into, "Fellows, this place is lit up like a New Year's spruce."

...And Gentle People. In Louisiana, Mo., the proprietor of the Wahl Hotel took an ad in the Press-Journal: "During the 25 years that our hotel has been loafing headquarters, there never was a time that I did not loaf with you and treat you as a guest. This loafing has now advanced to a point where it is ruining my business! This is my way of asking your cooperation - saying Goodbye to all of you, my loafer friends - with respect to all."

Truman was called columnist has reported that the Pro-Communist for this policy, real reason for President and Nixon was one who joined Nixon's trip to Romania was the criticism. The policy, to persuade that government to release Jews for migration to Israel. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Jews began migrating out of Romania as early as during the war under a special arrangement worked out by Archbishop Angelo Guiseppe Ronconelli, Albert Goering brother of field later Pope John. Since then Malaxa later came to the United States under the auspices of the Communist government and hired the Nixon law firm in Whittier, Calif.

Nixon knows Romanians to some extent, thanks to his relations with Nicolae Malaxa, a onetime fascist and partner of Albert Goering brother of field later Pope John. Since then Malaxa later came to the United States under the auspices of the Communist government and hired the Nixon law firm in Whittier, Calif.

The chief reason for Nixon's surprise move in stopping off in Romania are: 1. Nixon had a very profitable two-hour talk with President Ceausescu of Romania in 1967. The two men liked each other and concluded that the United States and Romania could do business together. "Nixon is a practical man," Ceausescu later told us. "He wants peace and so do we."

Accordingly, one month after Nixon was inaugurated he received a formal invitation to visit Romania.

2. He wants to thank the Romanians for pressuring the North Vietnamese government toward peace. Romania has been more vigorous in this respect than any other Communist country.

3. He wants to ask the Romanians to convey a message to the Chinese Reds that the United States has no intention of encroaching on Chinese territory Asia-despite the statements by Chiang Kai-Shek that he intended to invade the

PREHISTORIC POST OFFICE

Postmaster for the American Colonies.

Now That Americans have AT THE moment the proved that they can go to the department is trying to develop moon, maybe we should get some sophisticated scanners that about the business of learning will read addresses. They will have to be pretty sophisticated blizzard of opposition from But all we need is a Congress and the letter carriers standardized box on the front of union, the plain probability is each envelope containing five that one of these days the postal columns of digits running from 0 service will break down.

The most dramatic example out the ZIP code number of our of things to come occurred, you address. We have machines and remember, in December of 1966 that can position envelopes and when the Chicago post office we have scanners that could read collapsed. For days and days such codes accurately at tons of mail were dumped lightening speed.

Thus, the mailer could so mark his letter that it would unprocessed in hallways, basements and lofts.

One of the Chicago papers at never have to be looked at by a that time published a photo of human eye all the way to the the floor of a mail truck sub-post office at its destination.

The incentive would be the Chicago post office was also being used as an agency for social uplift of hitherto unemployed. Anyway, it was a frightening portent.

TWO years ago Lyndon Johnson set up a commission headed by Frederick R. Kappel, former board chairman of AT & T, to make recommendations for a sweeping overhaul.

These suggestions include a government-owned corporation to run the department, a governing board named by the President with the approval of Congress and the right of the corporation to borrow money in order to modernize the works.

Blount, in pushing this, is naturally in trouble with patronage-minded congressmen, and the heads of the postal union fear his plan might cut employment. But plenty of Americans, weary of ever-escalating postal rates for letters apparently forwarded by canal boat, will be in his corner.

LAST year the U. S. Post Office lost a billion dollars-three times as much as it lost in 1955. The Post Office is the only major industrial system in which man-days have advanced exactly as fast as the amount of work accomplished.

Eighty per cent of the department's $7 billion budget goes for wages, and productivity per worker actually dropped slightly in the past two years. Working conditions in antiquated, ill-lighted workrooms can be unspeakable and annual turnover rate among postal employees run close to 30%.

In a nation filled with technical genius, it is incredible that we handle mail almost as we did in the days when Ben Franklin was His Majesty's labor leaders, leaving emotion to the amateurs, offered the Senator a public platform at a time sufficiently distant to be in good taste and sufficiently close to neutralize the impact of the gossip-lash.

There's no stopping the flared trouser trend among the 'teen set. The lads are buying slightly-flared bell bottoms to extra-wide "elephant" bottoms... Use of leather trim on sports jackets is growing -- leather buttons, bindings and pipings on buttonholes. It's a good, rugged look... The same publicity that makes a law makes or an officerholder can toss him for a fall where he lands "bottoms up" especially if he reveals in a bit of folly like biting the hand that feeds him. Betraying the confidence, organizing for the purpose of denying the people access to the records of their business, governing without the consent of the governed. Attempting to pass or change the constitution and on an on.

Sen. Kennedy can, if he wishes, be the star speaker at the national AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) convention later in September -- where he would have the nation's two, possibly three, thousand most powerful union chiefs as a cheering, table-thumping audience.

The IUD Atlantic City (N.J.) convention precedes the federation's national biennial gathering -- where political history will be made. Traditionally the President of the U.S. is invited. White House sources report that Mr. Nixon wants to fly in. Thus the two conventions become global political stages.

But mistake not labor's embrace of Ted Kennedy. He is not their favorite son -- though fraternal and paternal relations have grown warmer in recent months.

They're realists. They're pragmatists. They need him. He needs them. There are only two political machines inside the Democratic Party -- if the appellation still holds. These are the Kennedy and AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) networks. Even Ted White discovered that.

Ted Kennedy got a tough break. The labor movement, being a man's movement, realizes how tough it really is. But they believe he still can be a great campaigner. They want to win he coming congressional election. They have counted (as their confidential COPE reports reveal) 88 marginal congressional districts up for grabs in '70. These could go either way.

Ted Kennedy can help win those. He can help raise funds. He can get out the crowds. But he can't write his ticket, or any the AFL-CIO's professional political leaders -- who would not move officially, even if off the record, without President George Meany's approval. Strong words, too, came directly from "16th Street," labor's national headquarters.

"We were disturbed that Friday when we heard he planned to resign," said one of the handful of men who can be called labor's policy makers. "We got word to our people in Massachusetts to express their and personal confidence in the Senator. Why not? Strictly from the viewpoint of political morality, there's a hell of a difference between personal involvement or tragic accident -- call it what you want -- and involvement with corruption, mishandling and misuse of funds and betrayal. We have confidence in him and we want him in the Senate."

This Is the Year of the Mink

Make your look the avant look in a terrific two-toned coat of Azurene, Emba natural blue-gray and Lutetia, natural gunmetal mink (left). Designed by Fredrica, this "tuned-in" coat features an edge-to-edge zipper closing for that extra small look through the shoulders. The ultrasophisticated coat of Luna-raine, Emba natural demibuff mink (right) with deep V-neck, big black bow and a tasseled signature status scarf is a Dan Grossman design.

Fashion, at least has bridged the much-talked-of generation gap. Pantsuits, miniskirts, turtle necks, chains and beads are all over the lot, age notwithstanding. And the slightest changes in design make the same styles right for mom, dad and any of the kids, regardless of sex.

Even elegant mink is in there pitching to win—keeping on top of every new fashion trend for fall.

Mink is no longer the traditional fur it used to be. It's thoroughly with it—in 58 shades of 16 color groups. You can find it from mini to midi to maxi length.

It gets into the gypsy look via a coat of Autumn Haze. Emba natural brown mink with big patch pockets and a gold chain belt.

The flirty skirt that's such a swinger for fall is represented in Tourmaline. Emba natural pale beige mink that falls to a swirling skirt of inverted pleats.

The football season will turn the spotlight on a hooded duffel coat in Autumn Haze with suede closing and buttons or a natural pale beige Tourmaline mink with a stand-up collar that turns down to a cock turtle-neck.

The biggest fashion status symbol this coming season is the muffler scarf and not-to-be-outdone natural mink scarves in a variety of shades appear in lengths up to 125 inches. And they can be lined to match your favorite dress or done all around in mink.

PARIS (AP) — Givenchy struck his usual standard of elegance today at his fall and winter fashion showing—the gold standard, with copper, steel and silver thrown in, even on his calf-length group.

The calf-length hemlines in slender models are shown for every hour. They look good and evoke a pre-World War I atmosphere, stripped of clutter. Belts on his coats, which drew particular applause, are at the natural waistline, thus elongating the silhouette. For coat materials he used black wool for city wear, white jersey for sports with its own scarf, gold brocade for evening, many times in fur and two in melon or coffee leather.

Givenchy has lots of fun with fur. He dyes it bright colors and tailors it smoothly like fabric. In orange, geranium red, Nile green, coffee, brown, navy, green, coral pink and all the melon shades. Depending on hour and occasion, simple long-sleeved dresses with fine draped neck, or belted shirtwaist lines are matched in color. Broadtail, lamb, and even mink show in a wide orange border hemline.

Givenchy numbers many chic matrons among his clientele. For them he makes terribly chic under-stated cocktail-through-dinner dresses. Several black ones have a crossover surplice panel stiffened and squared off at the side. Others are on the softly draped sheath order, with diamond pointed kerchiefs, fishtail hemlines, short shawls, and correspondingly shaped overdresses or panels.

The best in the slinky crepe evening group is in white with a shawl bolero trimmed in black velvet water lilies. Chains of pearl beads and mock diamond pendants enhance the millionaire look. Shoes sometimes match pastel dresses.

Jaycee Rodeo Begins Thursday In Sikeston

Professional rodeo cowboys have won more than $50 million in the past 16 years.

Members of the Rodeo Cowboys Association who pursue this lucrative arena prize money will compete in the annual Jaycee Rodeo, set for Thursday through Saturday evenings (Aug. 7-9), and Sunday afternoon (Aug. 10).

At the 1968 rodeo here, 83 entries competed for $7,650 in prize money. The same amount is expected to be up for grabs this year.

Sports fans will see competition among the cowboy-athletes in saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling.

The Sikeston rodeo is one of more than 500 approved annually by the association. Money won here will be added to cowboys' previous winnings in the race for 1969 championships. There were 521 association-sanctioned rodeos in 42 states and four provinces in 1968, with prize money reaching a record $3.7 million.

Competition here will be conducted under nationally-recognized rules, with 19 pertaining to the care and treatment of rodeo livestock. They were written by the association in conjunction with a national humane organization.

One of the winningest cowboys recently has been Larry Mahan, 25, Brooks, Ore., who pocketed $40,358 in 1966, a record $51,996 in 1967, $49,129 in 1968, and nearly $35,000 so far this year.

Cowboys' arena entries close at 6 p.m., DST, Wednesday (Aug. 6).

Arena livestock will be provided by Kinney Bros. Rodeo Co., Sulphur, La. The firm has had bucking broncs and bulls selected for action in the classic National Finals Rodeos.

Jets Escape Rally

CHICAGO (AP) - Joe Namath was a thousand boos from Broadway, but he got enough passes out of his system to lead the New York Jets to a 26-24 football thriller over the College All-Stars.

In the vast Soldier Field arena Friday night, Broadway Joe made his first big public appearance of the season, only 10 days after reporting to camp.

The crowd of 74,208 let him have it.

The brittle-legged hero of the Jets Super Bowl upset of the Baltimore Colts, returning to the pro football world from the bistro sphere, let the booing fall where it may. Playing until only the last five minutes of the game, he hit on 17 of 32 passes for 282 yards.

None of his shots went for a touchdown but they did much in setting up field goals for 43, 42, and 16 yards by Jim Turner and scoring runs of three and 36 yards by Matt Snell.

"I wasn't throwing worth a flip, but at this stage I'm satisfied," said Namath. "How far off am I? About five games."

The cheers of this National Football League city crowd deservedly went mainly for the All - Stars quarterback Greg Cook of Cincinnati and streaking runners Altie Taylor of Utah State and Jerry Levias of Southern Methodist.

They combined to nearly blow New York out of the jetstream in a last half spectacular when the collegians scored all their points.

Cook, property of the Cincinnati Bengals, came in after Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Bob Douglass of Kansas had been given shots at quarterback by head coach Otto Graham.

After Taylor raced back a Jet kickoff 78 yards in the first six minutes of the third period to turn on the crowd, Cook hurled a 17-yard touchdown pass to Gene Washington of Stanford.

Later, Cook hit Taylor for 44 yards and then speared Bob Klein of Southern California for a 12-yard touchdown.

In the last 16 seconds of the game, Cook hooked up with Levias on a 50-yard aerial and eventually hit him again with a 18-yard scoring shot.

Soccer-style placekicker Roy Gerela of New Mexico State booted the extra points and also added a 28-yard field goal.

In all, Cook completed 12 of 23 tosses for 241 yards to compensate for a sad All-Star running attack that withered before the Jet defense for a net ground gain of 16 yards.

The bird-dogging of Namath's pass receivers by Jim Marsalis of Tennessee State and Willie Thompson of Maryland State also drew applause. They were so eager, in fact, that several costly pass-interference penalties were called.

But probably the greatest achievement of the collegians must be credited to a remarkable goal-line stand early in the second quarter. On the one-yard line they held off two blasts from the rugged Snell, and one each from Emerson Boozler and Bill Mathis.

"That was one of the greatest goal-line stands I've ever seen in my years of coaching," said Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian who visited the All-Star dressing room.

Grawho coached the All-Stars to their last victory in the series - over Green Bay in 1968 - and returned to the helm this time after leaving the Washington Redskins, declared "This is one of the greatest bunch of fellows I've had the honor to coach."

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said his team "could have had three touchdowns in the first period, but our execution was poor. I thought Namath did well for being in camp only 10 days."

National League Batting (300 at bats) - C. Jones, New York .346; M. Alou, Pittsburgh .345.

Runs - Bonds, San Francisco 83; Kessinger, Chicago 82.

Runs batted in - Santo, Chicago 90; McCovey, San Francisco 85.

Hits - M. Alou, Pittsburgh 156; Kessinger, Chicago 135.

Doubles - M. Alou, Pittsburgh 32; Kessinger, Chicago 30.

Triples - B. Williams, Chicago 9; Tolian, Cincinnati 9.

Home runs - McCovey, San Francisco 33; L. May, Cincinnati 29.

Stolen bases - Brock, St. Louis 36; Bonds, San Francisco 27; Morgan, Houston 24.

Pitching (10 decisions) - Carlton, St. Louis 13-5, 7.22, 1.81; Seaver, New York 15-6, 7.14, 2.51.

Strikeouts - Gibson, St. Louis 183; Jenkins, Chicago 182.

The winning pitcher was Steve Carlton 13-5, who also doubled to open the third, and scored on Lou Brock's single.

St. Louis, also playing at night, has given the nod to Mike Torrez, while the Dodgers will go with Don Sutton.

American Indians are not forced to remain on their reservations; they are free to move about as they please.

Hunter Relates Team Effort to Woo Noranda

By PEGGY GRISSOM
CHARLESTON -- "Complete co-operation of landowner and banker, worker and industrialist enabled the New Madrid area to secure the $186 million Noranda Aluminum plant, now under construction near New Madrid in the St. Jude Industrial Park area of New Madrid County," Sam L. Hunter, Jr., president of the Bank of New Madrid, told 50 members of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

"Faith, determination and aid from St. Jude, in answer to some of us Catholic's Novenas turned the trick after Henderson, Ky. had apparently been selected as the site for this giant industry which, together with its supporting industries could well determine the future of the entire Bootheel area," the New Madrid banker said.

Hunter told of the trouble the New Madrid group, riddled with dissensions and wanting to gain "personal gain and praise for an industry location, struggled with for several years.

"We missed a possible paper mill, now located at Wickliffe, Ky., offered a $250,000 corporation loss and almost came to blows among ourselves before we seemed to gain guidance from an understanding God, welded our separate interests into one and finally won a plant whose site location selector himself told us was unattainable," Hunter said. "St. Jude, the patron Saint of the troubled and distressed, aided our efforts," Hunter, a Catholic, said.

The veteran banker warned the Charleston group that "they must pull together; set up an industrial atmosphere that will cause probable manufacturing locators to want to become a part of the community and, in so doing stop the migration of children -- the intelligent persons that industry needs -- to the larger cities.

He related how the New Madrid group, once they united efforts, "played the bluff to tell Noranda they could raise sums, so large they would have staggered our imagination only a few years earlier; worked night and day to interest Noranda and wooed them with determination, a fine port and promises of meeting all Noranda demands. We still have a lot of work to provide housing, doctors, streets and recreational sectors for a work force that can grow from an initial 400-500 operational force to one of some 1,500-2,000," he pointed out.

Hunter told how Baxter Souther, owner of Southern

Towing Company, of Caruthersville who had a date with Noranda to talk about handling towing of barges of alumina -- the crude form of the unfinished aluminum -- from its source at Baton Rouge, acted as the pivot in making contact with, and helping interest William Stevenson, a site location executive for Noranda, in the New Madrid area.

"Stevenson told me in a Jefferson City meeting that we didn't have a chance to land Noranda, but we succeeded in talking him into allowing us to make Noranda a proposition," Hunter explained. "Then, bluffing our way and promising low power rates, when we barely know what a kilowatt hour was, we located parties interested in power sales and came through with what Noranda wanted."

He told how, balked by inability to secure both a grant and a loan from Economic Development, they finally talked Noranda into allowing them to include a $3 million revenue bond issue to match that amount of a grant that ADA had approved. And we were only able to make that grant because we had made an application before Congress decreed that such loans could not be made. The fact that our application was in before Congress enacted the legislation saved our necks, he explained.

He also told how Noranda plans to take advantage of a trade school to gain some experienced workers. We are already well along on school plans, Hunter said. We have school problems, having already consolidated seven of eight schools but we will provide needed educational facilities, just as we will provide needed housing, doctors, hospital facilities, streets and other needed facilities.

Turner said committees had "contacted some doctors who would locate in the area if clinics and, or hospitals were provided them. But the hospital financing folk want us to have definite commitments from doctors, which we don't have, before they will furnish the money. We think Hill-Burton's plan a "too expensive one; taking twice as long to finance and build and less of a complete facility as privately or community owned hospitals," he pointed out. "Noranda has to match dollar for dollar for hospital building" headlined.

Turner said Noranda had planned to build only one "pot line" -- a series of cooking pots that extract the pure aluminum from the raw alumina -- a by-product of an original bauxite product, mined in Louisiana and Texas. However Noranda, a fully integrated company, that includes production of wire, rods, aluminum castings and sheet aluminum -- as a result of owning companies that handle each facet -- told us they would build a wire and rod unit, after the first pot plant was finished. Then they would add another of a possible three pot setups, if they could secure enough orders. However, the wire-rod unit is under construction and we feel Noranda could well begin work on a second pot plant when the first one is finished since available labor and engineering could be retained and the second plant built at a great savings."

He predicted that "so huge will be housing demand that workers will live in all areas of the Bootheel. Wherever they find modern housing, a welcome and friendly atmosphere and easy access to the site, they will locate. Sikeston, already a rapidly growing city, could possibly secure the bulk of the workers, since New Madrid, Hayti, Charleston and other smaller towns do not have the facilities to offer, at this time."

In summation Turner told of the 17-story power plant that must furnish 6000,000 kilowatts of electricity to operate a single pot mill; of the anticipated need of a second steam generating plant -- at a cost of $100 million -- of the need for a million and a half tons of coal per year to satisfy the plant's furnaces, with four large loads a day being required.

Turner said that "any possible locator wanted to keep all talks between an industrial representative and their company a secret. I am convinced that Henderson's publicizing the fact that Noranda had selected a site there is one big reason we were able to secure the plant," he emphasized.

In closing he predicted that location of other industries in the Bootheel area, like the soft paper mills at Cape Girardeau, the paper mill at Wickliffe; possible location of a paper mill near Caruthersville, will mean that this area will be a major manufacturing complex, if it can furnish trained workers for the industries.

"And furnish them we must, for our entire future is wrapped up in the accomplishment of this goal," the New Madrid banker concluded.

The next meeting of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce will be held in September.

Reassessment of Farm Land Completed

CHARLESTON -- Notices are being prepared in the county clerk's office notifying landowners of changes in assessed valuation of their property which average 34 per cent for Mississippi County farm land.

The 34 per cent increase in rural assessments was ordered earlier this year by the State Tax Commission, but it was left to county authorities to determine how the increase should be applied.

According to Presiding Judge Bill Winchester, the board of equalization decided to reevaluate every section of farm land in the county rather than imposing a blanket increase of 34 per cent on all assessments. Some counties have used a blanket increase.

Winchester said the blanket increase route merely compounds inequalities in previous assessments. The method chosen by the county board of equalization was to physically inspect land in every section of the county, and try to assess each parcel of proportion to the value of other land.

No increase was ordered by the state tax commission in city property, and no similar reassessment of city real estate

was undertaken, Winchester said.

Information compiled by the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, a non-government agency, shows that the 34 per cent increase in farm land assessment should produce a 22 per cent overall increase in real estate assessment in Mississippi County.

Survey figures say the increase should be from a 1968 real estate valuation of $22,727,739 to a 1969 figure of $27,774,175. These figures, however, are subject to fluctuation based on the action of the county board of equalization and appeals.

Cards informing landowners of their reassessments will be mailed within the next week, according to the office of County Clerk Arthur Lee Goodin. Persons who wish to appeal the assessments may appear before the board of appeals, which is scheduled to meet Monday, Aug. 11 at the Courthouse.

Mr. Winchester said Judge Hunter Phillips, chairman of the State Tax Commission, will be in Charleston Aug. 11 to attend the board of appeals meeting, and to explain to county taxpayers the reason behind the commission's order of a 34 per cent increase.

Young Bicyclists Take Break at Portageville

PORTAGEVILLE -- The Wayfarers, a group of 35 high school and college boys riding bikes stopped over for a rest period at Hickory Village near Interstate 55 in Portageville Saturday morning.

The group started from Marion, Indiana, and will travel to the Gulf of Mexico and back to Indiana for a 2000 mile bike trip. The trip will take them through 15 states.

Wayfarers is an attempt both to demonstrate the vitality of the Christian life and to provide a means of increasing the rider's understanding of Jesus Christ in a context of honest masculine adventure. The riders represent many church backgrounds.

The trip serves as a rugged challenge to the rider, testing his set of values in the tough discipline of physical exhaustion and self-reliance. The riders gain a mature picture of how Jesus Christ relates to their lives as they battle the elements, study the scriptures, communicate with people along the way and experience the tremendous fellowship found only in a group working toward a common goal.

Motel Ruby Lee Mays Small Robbed By Pair Wins MPA Golf Event

The Holiday Inn, highway 61 south, was held up by two armed men this morning and more than $350 taken.

Eddie Ross, night clerk, said two Negro men carrying pistols came into the motel at 3 a.m. and demanded all the money he had in the cash register.

After taking the $350 from the motel and an undetermined amount from the restaurant the hold up men forced Ross out toward their waiting car, a 1967 cream colored Pontiac GTO. Upon reaching the highway the pair released Ross and told him to run back to the motel. They then sped away last on Interstate 57 heading toward Charleston.

The pair are described as bearded, six feet, weighing 170 pounds, wearing a black shirt and wearing a light shirt and a woman's bandana around his head.

In other activity: Gene Tyrone, route two, told police he saw a Negro boy get out of a 1958 Ford, occupied by six other Negro boys, and take $10 out of a purse. The purse had been in a car parked at Southside Cafe, Highway 61 south, the incident was reported to police at 2:22 a.m. this morning.

Illinois highway patrol informed Pat Chessor, Highway 61 north, they had found her red 1964 Grand Prix in the town of Ullin. They reported the motor was damaged.

The vehicle has been missing since Thursday night.

Police report two rear vehicle collisions.

Phillip Slinkered, Whitewater, reported he had stopped on South Main street in his 1969 Ford pickup truck at 5 p.m. Thursday when he was jolted by a blow from behind, an inside mirror was damaged.

Milton A. Brashear, 828 Matthews, the driver of the car said he didn't see the truck's brake lights. Brashear's 1966 Mustang had front end damage.

Elizabeth G. Miller, 309 Murray, told police yesterday she was going to turn left off Kingshighway in front of P.J. Auto Supply, 108 South Kingshighway, and accidentally ran into the rear of another car. Mrs. Miller's 1966 El Camino had damaged to the right fender and door.

The 1968 Buick driven by Breda M. Scott, 711 Moore St., had damage to the rear bumper.

Closed License Office to Reopen

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state license office at Bowling Green will reopen Monday and results of an audit there will be turned over to Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth to determine whether there is any basis for prosecution.

The office had been operated by Mrs. Shirley Butters, Democratic national committeewoman for Missouri, until Revenue Director James E. Schaffner closed it a week ago for an investigation of reported discrepancies in the accounts.

Mrs. Butters has not yet turned over the report on her last day of business and Schaffner said Friday it might be necessary to send someone to get it.

When it reopens, the office will be under the direction of Charles Moore, who conducts drivers' vision tests for the Revenue Department.

Dinis to Go on With Bid for Accident Probe

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — His plea for an inquest rejected in one court, Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis has turned to another to seek a full-scale inquiry into Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's accident in which a Washington, D.C., secretary was killed.

Dinis first asked Chief Justice G. Joseph Tauro of Superior Court to assign a judge for an inquest, but the justice turned down the application, saying the power to conduct inquests rests with district courts.

Dinis then sent letters Friday to Chief Judge Kenneth L. Nash of the Massachusetts District Court system, and to Judge James A. Boyle of the Dukes County District Court in Edgartown.

Kennedy appeared in the Edgartown court July 26 and pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of the accident, which occurred when a car he was driving plunged off a narrow bridge into a tidal pool on Chappaquiddick Island. Judge Boyle presided, and imposed the minimum sentence, two months in jail, and then suspended it for a year on probation.

Unofficial reports have indicated there might be a shortage of $39,000. Mrs. Butters says the state actually owes her $51,000.

Mrs. Butters has not yet turned over the report on her last day of business and Schaffner said Friday it might be necessary to send someone to get it.

When it reopens, the office will be under the direction of Charles Moore, who conducts drivers' vision tests for the Revenue Department.

FESTUS, Mo. (AP) — Bomb experts disassembled a device clamped around the neck of a 19-year-old youth early today, and found it contained only a few pieces of wood, a battery and string.

A 60-year-old high school teacher who said he placed it on Gary L. Miller, told police it was a bomb, and said it would explode if any attempt was made to remove it. Festus Police Chief Burl Rudisale said Miller told officers that a similar device he had tested on a dog had "blown the dog's head off."

The teacher, identified as Rupert M. Johnson of Festus, was booked suspected of felonious assault at the Jefferson County jail.

For Miller, the discovery of the device's contents ended nearly 12 hours of horror. "He told me it was a time bomb, and only he himself could disarm it," Miller told police. The drama began to unfold Friday afternoon when Johnson.

pieces of copper tubing, about one-half inch in diameter, and was fitted snugly by elbow joints.

Festus police called in bomb disposal experts from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., the Granite City, Ill., Army Depot, and the St. Louis Police Department. An attempt to X-ray the device at a hospital in Festus, about 35 miles south of St. Louis, failed.

Use of a powerful industrial X-ray unit indicated that the device contained no mechanical parts.

The decision was made to lead Miller off the parking lot to some soft ground, and open the device.

Miller said: "They just unscrewed. There was just a string and a battery inside."

One of the bomb experts, asked when it was determined that the device was harmless, replied, "When they took it apart."

The drama began to unfold Friday afternoon when Johnson.

Bulgarians Greet Nixon Warmly

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — President Nixon arrived in this Communist capital today to the most enthusiastic welcome of his world tour, with thousands shouting "Nix-on, Nix-on, Nix-on!" He told them the United States is ready to help set up a Europe "free from the fear of war or threats of war."

So great was the outpouring of Romanians that the motorcade carrying Nixon and President Nicolae Ceausescu was stopped three times en route from the airport to downtown Bucharest. Nixon left his car to shake outstretched hands.

Along the route the air rang with the shouts of his name as he called out in Romanian: "Long Live Romanian-American friendship." There were cries of "Hoo-rah" and some tossed bouquets at him. The throngs waved U.S. and Romanian flags.

Ceausescu had welcomed Nixon on his arrival from Pakistan stressing peaceful coexistence as "a safe way of building a climate of confidence." Riding with Nixon in an open limousine, he looked pleased by the tremendous reception for the first American president to visit a Communist capital. But he was more restrained than Nixon when he got out of the car to mingle with the crowds.

Once or twice Nixon was shoved off balance by the people pressing around him, but he never lost his footing.

Nowhere in the six Asian nations Nixon visited earlier on his 25,000-mile tour did the greeting crowds seem so genuinely friendly. Some Romanians appeared moved to the point of tears. Nixon obviously was elated.

Some Americans noticed that U.S. paper flags distributed to the people often tore loose from their small standards in the wind and Romanians stepped from the curbs to retrieve the Stars and Stripes as souvenirs.

Mrs. Nixon, riding in a separate car with Mrs. Ceausescu, blew kisses to the crowd. But she did not have the benefit of an open-top car so many in the crowds failed to get a glimpse of the American first lady.

Thousands of persons waving U.S. flags were at Otopeni Airport and welcoming signs were out as the President and Mrs. Nixon stepped from their plane, Air Force One, into the hot sunshine.

The entire city was in a festive mood, and the turnout along the 12-mile route from the airport to downtown Bucharest was so great that Romanian officials ordered the motorcade to slow down so spectators could get a good look at the President and his wife.

The people had been standing patiently for as much as five hours. Girls and women in bright summer dresses and men in sports shirts and business suits stood behind lines of soldiers.

Workers, who ordinarily quit at 1 p.m. on Saturday, were let off several hours early to be able to join in the welcome.

The slowdown of the motorcade meant that the early part of the program would be set back. But a Romanian television announcer told his audience: "The people want to greet President Nixon, so we are forced to reduce the speed of the convoy."

Dense crowds forced the motorcade to stop once. The spectators applauded and shouted greetings.

At times the convoy took on the appearance of a triumphal procession rather than a visit as President Nixon, so we are forced to reduce the speed of the convoy."

The first American president to visit a Communist country since President Franklin D. Roosevelt went to Yalta 24 years ago to meet Stalin, Nixon and his wife walked briskly down the ramp at the airport.

Thus Nixon probably set the theme of talks today and Sunday with Ceausescu before flying on to Britain for his final stop and a meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson. He returns to Washington Sunday night.

Perryville Boy Dies In Crash

A Perryville boy was killed today on route C in Perry county, one half mile north of Bellevue.

Trance Moddie, 17, was dead on arrival at Perry County Memorial hospital, Perryville, following a one-car accident at 12:15 a.m.

He was driving a 1962 Volkswagen, when he lost control, ran off the road into a ditch, and was thrown from the car.

His body was taken to Young and Sons Funeral Home in Perryville.

Two drivers were injured in two separate accidents within 10 minutes time on highway 153 last night, a mile south of Farna.

At 9:30 p.m. last night, a 1963 Chevrolet truck driven by John B. Bufford, 50, route one, Libbourn, ran across the center line and struck a 1965 Ford, driven by Ronald Edward Collier, 16, route one, Farna, the state patrol reported.

Neither driver received serious injuries but Bufford was arrested, the patrol said, on a charge of driving while intoxicated, and taking a vehicle without the owner's consent.

Ten minutes later a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Billy Kellum, 23, Aurora, Ill., came on the scene of the wreck in his car and struck a wheel lying in the road.

He lost control and struck the Ford in the rear.

Kellum received a broken foot, and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Howard Hill, Gideon, a passenger in Kellum's car, received cuts on his head, and was taken to the Malden clinic.

Kellum was arrested on a charge of careless and imprudent driving, and excessive speed.

Door prizes and refreshments will be provided. Sikeston PCA serves farm members in Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid, Butler, Stoddard, Bollinger and Cape counties.

JUSTICE GETS CLOSER

The campaign for the presidency of 1964 is now history. The two candidates - Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater - have gone their separate ways. Johnson, the victor, has retired to his Texas ranch, and Goldwater has been re-elected to his Arizona seat in the U. S. Senate. William White's book on the campaign is gone from the best seller lists and his work on the 1968 campaign will soon follow it on the charts.

The 1964 election was hard fought and at times close to the limit in terms of political infighting. The GOP withheld a controversial film entitled Choice, at Goldwater's personal request, because it was considered not in the interest of good campaign tactics. The film showed the moral breakdown in the nation, ranging from drunken driving to topless dancing. The Democrats used fear of little girls picking daisies, dissolving into nuclear explosions. It was rough campaigning indeed.

One tactic in the 1964 for the White House ranks among the cruelest in political history. It drew the condemnation of both parties and with just cause. It was an alleged poll of the nation's psychiatrists on the mental condition of Senator Goldwater. The so-called poll was conducted by the now-defunct Fact magazine. The publisher was Ralph Ginzburg, convicted earlier for the publication of Eros, a magazine adjudged by the courts to be pornographic.

Ginzburg claimed that 1,189 psychiatrists found the Republican candidate to be mentally unfit to be president. Medical experts called the poll a farce. Goldwater sued and the courts found in his favor. That suit was appealed by Ginzburg and the U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the decision. Now Ginzburg will take the case to the Supreme Court. Five years have passed and the case is still not finished. We will be interested to see what the top court of the nation rules in this case. Whether or not one voted for the Senator is irrelevant. The issue is even more fundamental than political stance. It has been a technique of totalitarian forces throughout history - most recently refined by Hitler, Stalin and Mao to declare unsound those minds which disagree with the power structure.

Senator Goldwater was nominated by a major political party for the highest office in the land. If for no other reason, we feel he should not be downed by mail order analysis. We hope that the $75,001 judgment is approved.

As Bernard Rice remarked while clearing the driveway of bikes, trikes and wagons: "When I became a man, I put away childish things."

An engaged man hears all about the faults of his sweetheart's relatives, but she will deny after marriage that they have any faults.

While most of us sit around whistling in the dark over financial and economic conditions in the world today, and especially in the United States, we received a communique from a respected and worldly-wise friend in which he says, "It is no longer a question of whether or not the present Administration has jammed on the credit brakes, rather it is a question of how much a shock will be felt in the economy."

"Just this week one of our long-time clients dropped into the office. Believe me the questions he posed were no different from those that have been on your mind and our own for some time.

"How do you protect the savings for which you have worked so hard?

"How do you beat inflation?

"How much will the American businessman be affected if we are forced to devalue the dollar?

"Is there a simple solution to all of these problems?

"Can you get high current income and still find price appreciation possibilities anywhere?

"The question that intrigued us the most was, 'Can I get high current income - better than 7 per cent and a stock of bond appreciation?' You and I know that, on the face of it, the two normally seem contradictory. Today's markets are so unusual and the spread between bond and stock yields so fantastic, that we thought it could be possible.

"It comes down to the question of, 'Can you beat inflation with very high current yields, find a hedge against devaluation and place yields, find a hedge against devaluation and place yourself in such a position as to be able to obtain capital gains even though the industrial market is falling at a rapid rate?'"

At this point, we will close this discussion because we aren't in the business of selling stocks and bonds, but we found some of his answers to these questions quite unusual - and far different than we've heard from anyone else.

And we haven't forgotten the words of the chairman of the Federal Reserve, Martin said, "If you stretch credit too far it breaks and there is a limit to the debt you can get into."

Even this country editor can see our chickens are coming home to roost.

You can tell that a boy is beginning to notice the girls by the way he is interested in a new suit of clothes beyond the number of pockets.

NUCLEAR PARITY OR SUPERIORITY?

Most citizens would agree that it would be absurd for one government to say to its avowed enemy:

"We will build up our defenses to a certain point and then we will stop." The enemy country would certainly make every effort to see that its offensive forces went beyond this point as soon as possible.

Yet, this is exactly what has happened over the last several years as the United States Defense Department has pursued an announced policy of "nuclear parity" with the Soviet Union. As advanced by former Secretary of Defense McNamara, this policy means that we would never attempt to develop a nuclear force superior to that of the Soviets.

If Mr. McNamara expected the Soviet Union to settle for equality, he was mistaken. The Russian Communists have given no indication that they intend to accept nuclear parity. Instead, all their efforts have been aimed toward achieving nuclear superiority over the United States.

Mr. McNamara has said that "there can be no victor in a nuclear war." He implied that because such a war would be very destructive, we should not build up a nuclear force. He did not seem to realize that the best way to prevent nuclear war is to have a superior nuclear force so that the enemy will be deterred from striking.

The new Secretary of Defense, Clark Clifford, has indicated some opposition to nuclear parity. Concerned citizens should strongly support any efforts by Mr. Clifford or others to build a strong deterrent force and end the dangerous policy of "nuclear parity," which is equivalent to unilateral disarmament.

The results of a study by the National Institute of Mental Health, as released by the American Medical Association, indicates that an estimated 2 per cent of the nation's school children need some sort of psychiatric help and at least two thirds of those under 18 who need such care are not getting it.

U. S. Savings Stamps - sold at post offices and through the School Savings Program -- are an important part of the nationwide Savings Bonds Program. Encourage your youngsters to develop the habit of thrift by buying Savings Stamps which they may exchange for Bonds when they accumulate the price of a bond.

IT TICKLES US

The Soviet press has been playing the U. S. space program fairly straight lately. Coverage of the Apollo 10 mission was free of most of the anti-American commentary which went along with earlier reporting of U. S. space exploits.

But two incidents in the flight provided too much for Soviet more, says Aviation Week and Space Technology. One was the earthy exclamation voiced by Eugene Cernan when the lunar module momentarily went out of control - the same expletive, it may be remembered, that a certain Washington correspondent.

This was rendered in Russian as, "The devil take it!"

The other was John Young's description of the dark side of the moon as "lit up like a Christmas tree." Since the Communists don't officially observe Christmas, this was translated into, "Fellows, this place is lit up like a New Year's spruce."

...And Gentle People. In Louisiana, Mo., the proprietor of the Wahl Hotel took an ad in the Press-Journal: "During the 25 years that our hotel has been loafing headquarters, there never was a time that I did not loaf with you and treat you as a guest. This loafing has now advanced to a point where it is ruining my business! This is my way of asking your cooperation - saying Goodbye to all of you, my loafer friends - with respect to all."

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND

JACK ANDERSON SAY: Nixon and Cleauescu can do business; Nicolae Malaxa was Nixon law client; Romania's crime control good good example for USA

WASHINGTON--One team of columnist has reported that the real reason for President Nixon's trip to Romania was to persuade that government to release Jews for migration to Israel. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Jews began migrating out of Romania as early as during the war under a special arrangement worked out by Archbishop Angelo Guiseppe Ronconelli, later Pope John. Since then relations between Israel and Romania have been very cordial, and Romania frequently votes with Israel in the United Nations.

There is complete freedom of religious worship in Romania today. And the former Romanian Ambassador to Washington, Silviu Brucan, is a Jewish.

The chief reason for Nixon's surprise move in stoppoff in Romania are:

1. Nixon had a very profitable two-hour talk with President Ceausescu of Roania in 1967. The two men liked each other and concluded that the United States and Romania could do business together. "Nixon is a practical man," Ceausescu later told us. "He wants peace and so do we."

Accordingly, one month after Nixon was inaugurated he received a formal invitation to visit Romania.

2. He wants to thank the Romanians for pressuring the North Vietnamese government toward peace. Romania has been more vigorous in this respect than any other Communist country.

3. He wants to ask the Romanians to convey a message to the Chinese Reds that the United States has no intention of encroaching on Chinese territory once there is ease in Southeast Asia-despite the statements by Chiang Kai-Shek that he intended to invade the Chinese Mailed.

4. Nixon wants to counter his vote as a member of Congress against the Truman policy of sending surplus wheat to the smaller European Communist nations. Truman was called Pro-Communist for this policy, and Nixon was one who joined the criticism. The policy, however, has worked.

--Malaxa Was Nixon Client--

Nixon knows Romanians to some extent, thanks to his relations with Nicolae Malaxa, a onetime fascist and partner of Albert Goering, brother of field Marshal Hermann Goering. Malaxa later came to the United States under the auspices of the Communist government and hired the Nixon law firm in Whittier, Calif.

The move had all the earmarks of a contrivance to get the influence of an important Senator, in order to keep Malaxa in the United States. Malaxa made a big show of building a steel tube plant in Whittier.

Nixon's close pal, Rep. Pat Hillings of Los Angeles, who replaced Nixon in Congress, introduced a bill to prevent Malaxa from being deported, while Nixon's old friend, Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, did the same thing in the Senate.

In the end, Malaxa did not build a steel tube plant in Whittier, but thanks to Nixon's influence he is still in the United States.

The most important question regarding the President's stop in Bucharest is whether it will offend Russia, inasmuch as Romania is the most independent of all the Communist countries with the exception of Yugoslavia.

The general consensus among diplomats is that it will not. It probably will antagonize some of the Diehards in the Kremlin, but the average Russian leader cannot object to the United States promoting friendship with a member of the Communist bloc. Had Nixon been interfering with the

Professional rodeo cowboys have won more than $50 million in the past 16 years.

Members of the Rodeo Cowboys Association who pursue this lucrative arena prize money will compete in the annual Jaycee Rodeo, set for Thursday through Saturday evenings (Aug. 7-9), and Sunday afternoon (Aug. 10).

At the 1968 rodeo here, 83 entries competed for $7,650 in prize money. The same amount is expected to be up for grabs this year.

Sports fans will see competition among the cowboy-athletes in saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and steer wrestling.

The Sikeston rodeo is one of more than 500 approved annually by the association. Money won here will be added to cowboys' previous winnings in the race for 1969 championships. There were 521 association-sanctioned rodeos in 42 states and four provinces in 1968, with prize money reaching a record $3.7 million.

Competition here will be conducted under nationally-recognized rules, with 19 pertaining to the care and treatment of rodeo livestock. They were written by the association in conjunction with a national humane organization.

One of the winningest cowboys recently has been Larry Mahan, 25, Brooks, Ore., who pocketed $40,358 in 1966, a record $51,996 in 1967, $49,129 in 1968, and nearly $35,000 so far this year.

Cowboys' arena entries close at 6 p.m., DST, Wednesday (Aug. 6).

Arena livestock will be provided by Kinney Bros. Rodeo Co., Sulphur, La. The firm has had bucking broncs and bulls selected for action in the classic National Finals Rodeos.

Madrid county tournament last week before bowing to New Madrid and then upsetting the host in opening round play Tuesday, will send its ace lefthander Pat McClarty against possibly Johnny Bunting.

Grant Dambach picked up the win for Lilbourn last night, allowing three runs on seven hits while his teammates backed him with errorless fielding.

Oran committed five errors, four in a five run seventh inning as Rick Irwin was tagged with the loss, although he checked the Lilbourn batsmen to six safeties.

Brad Emerson homered for Oran in the third. It took 10 innings for Risco to down New Madrid and move into the finals with Randy Terry picking up the victory with his own home run. He blasted a opposite field homer in the top of the tenth to decide the match.

Risco used a four run second inning to surge ahead after failing to score in the first after filling the bases. In that second frame, Risco sent 10 batters to the plate, one of which collected a hit as New Madrid's pitcher was having control problems and walked five men during the inning.

Oran and New Madrid will decide the consolation at 7 p.m. tonight after which Risco and Lilbourn meet in the championship tilt.

Trophies will be awarded the four finalists along with a sportsmanship and two most valuable player awards.

ARMED FORCES

SAN ANTONIO -- Second Lieutenant Michael L. Trout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe P. Trout of Advance, Mo., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Lieutenant Trout, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo., for training as an aerospace munitions officer.

The lieutenant, who attended New Madrid (Mo.) High School, received a B.S. degree from the University of Missouri.

HUNTER ARMY AIRFIELD, GA. (AHTNC) - Captain Guy L. Hankins, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Hankins, Route 1, Bell City, Mo., received the silver wings of an aviator upon graduation from the Army Aviation School at Hunter Army Airfield, Ga., July 1.

During the 16-week course he was taught various fire techniques and tactical maneuvers for helicopters supporting ground troops in combat. He also received instruction in helicopter maintenance and survival techniques.

U. S. ARMY, VIETNAM (AHTNC) - Jerry N. Miller, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Miller, Route 3, Dexter, Mo., was promoted to Army specialist four July 11, while serving as a medical aidman with the 17th Artillery's 2nd Battalion near An Khe, Vietnam.

Spec 4 Miller entered the Army in March 1969, completed basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., and was stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., before arriving overseas in March 1.

His wife, Lee Andra, lives at 205 W. McCullough, Dexter, Mo.

Jets Escape Rally

CHICAGO (AP) -- Joe Namath was a thousand boos from Broadway, but he got enough passes out of his system to lead the New York Jets to a 28-24 football thriller over the College All-Stars.

In the vast Soldier Field arena Friday night, Broadway Joe made his first big public appearance of the season, only 10 days after reporting to camp. The crowd of 74,208 let him have it.

The brittle-legged hero of the Jets Super Bowl upset of the Baltimore Colts, returning to the pro football world from the bistrophere, let the booing fall where it may. Playing until only the last five minutes of the game, he hit on 17 of 32 passes for 292 yards.

None of his shots went for a touchdown but they did much in setting up field goals for 43, 42, 18 and 16 yards by Jim Turner and scoring runs of three and 36 yards by Matt Snell.

"I wasn't throwing worth a flip, but at this stage I'm satisfied," said Namath. "How far off am I? About five games."

The cheers of this National Football League city crowd deservedly went mainly for the All - Stars quarterback Greg Cook of Cincinnati and streaking runners Altie Taylor of Utah State and Jerry Levis of Southern Methodist.

They combined to nearly blow New York out of the jetstream in a last half spectacular when the collegians scored all their points.

Cook, property of the Cincinnati Bengals, came in after Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Bob Douglass of Kansas had been given shots at quarterback by head coach Otto Graham.

After Taylor raced back a Jet kickoff 78 yards in the first six minutes of the third period to turn on the crowd, Cook hurled a 17-yard touchdown pass to Gene Washington of Stanford. Later, Cook hit Taylor for 44 yards and then speared Bob Klein of Southern California for a 12-yard touchdown.

In the last 16 seconds of the game, Cook hooked up with Levis on a 59-yard aerial and eventually hit him again with a 19-yard scoring shot.

Soccer-style placekicker Roy Gerela of New Mexico State booted the extra points and also added a 28-yard field goal.

In all, Cook completed 12 of 23 tosses for 241 yards to compensate for a sad All-Star running attack that withered before the Jet defense for a net ground gain of 16 yards.

The bird-dogging of Namath's pass receivers by Jim Marshall of Tennessee State and Willie Thompson of Maryland State also drew applause. They were so eager, in fact, that several costly pass-interference penalties were called.

But probably the greatest achievement of the collegians must be credited to a remarkable goal-line stand early in the second quarter. On the one-yard line they held off two blasts from the rugged Snell, and one each from Emerson Boozer and Bill Mathis.

"That was one of the greatest goal-line stands I've ever seen in my years of coaching," said Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian who visited the All-Star dressing room.

Grawho coached the AllStars to their last victory in the series--over Green Bay in 1968 --and returned to the helm this time after leaving the Washington Redskins, declared "This is one of the greatest bunch of fellows I've had the honor to coach."

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets said his team "could have had three touchdowns in the first period, but our execution was poor. I thought Namath did well for being in camp only 10 days."

Lyle Malone left Monday evening for Montgomery, Ala., to get a Curtis airplane and left there same Thursday morning for Sikeston. It will probably arrive late Thursday evening or Friday morning. The Malone boys have secured a good aviator to fly their plane and will make the Fairs with exhibition flights and take passengers the same as

If You Were the Judge Man Darts in Front of Car, Driver at Fault

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.
Norton was walking down the street with two friends one night when they were suddenly accosted by three knife-wielding cats who looked pretty rough. While Norton had an ample supply of muscles, the ones he relied upon were in his legs.

Losing no time, he high-tailed it behind his two friends, toward the safety of several men who were walking on the opposite side of the street. While his two friends managed to dart safely across the street past Mr. Dinkle's oncoming automobile, Norton proved less fortunate. Dinkle's car bounced him high in the air and he landed in court where he sued Mr. Dinkle for his injuries.

"What does he want from me?" protested Mr. Dinkle. "The only reason I hit him was because he raced in front of my car. The fault was his and not mine!"

"Sure I may have raced in front of his car," was Norton's answer, "but I had no choice and he did. If I had stayed where I was, I would have gotten sliced up like a piece of baloney. His choice was not to hit me with his car."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require Mr. Dinkle to pay fast-stepping Norton for his injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The Judge held that since Norton's two friends had passed in front of Mr. Dinkle's automobile, Mr. Dinkle should have been able to see Norton and to stop his car before striking him.

As for Norton's dashing in front of the car, concluded the judge, a person's actions can be excused when they are due to a sudden peril, not caused by him, and might reasonably be calculated to distract his attention from the care he might otherwise be required to exercise for his own safety.

Hunter Relates Team Effort to Woo Noranda

By PEGGY GRISSOM
CHARLESTON — "Complete co-operation of landowner and banker, worker and industrialist enabled the New Madrid area to secure the $186 million Noranda Aluminum plant, now under construction near New Madrid in the St. Jude Industrial Park area of New Madrid County," Sam L. Hunter, Jr., president of the Bank of New Madrid, told 50 members of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

"Faith, determination and aid from St. Jude, in answer to some of us Catholic's Novenas turned the trick after Henderson, Ky. had apparently been selected as the site for this giant industry which, together with its supporting industries could well determine the future of the entire Bootheel area," the New Madrid banker said.

Hunter told of the trouble the New Madrid group, riddled with dissensions and wanting to gain "personal gain and praise for an industry location, struggled with for several years. "We missed a possible paper mill, now located at Wickliffe, Ky., suffered a $250,000 corporation loss and almost came to blows among ourselves before we seemed to gain guidance from an understanding God, welded our separate interests into one and finally won a plant whose site location selector himself told us was unattainable," Hunter said. "St. Jude, the patron Saint of the troubled and distressed, aided our efforts," Hunter, a Catholic, said.

The veteran banker warned the Charleston group that "they must pull together; set up an industrial atmosphere that will cause probable manufacturing locators to want to become a part of the community and, in so doing stop the migration of children — the intelligent persons that industry needs — to the larger cities.

He related how the New Madrid group, once they united efforts, "played the bluff to tell Noranda they could raise sums, so large they would have staggered our imagination only a few years earlier; worked night and day to interest Noranda and wooed them with determination, a fine port and promises of meeting all Noranda demands. We still have a lot of work to provide housing, doctors, streets and recreational sectors for a work force that can grow from an initial 400-500 operational force to one of some 1,500-2,000," he pointed out.

Hunter told how Baxter Souther, owner of Southern

Towing Company, of Caruthersville who had a date with Noranda to talk about handling towing of barges of alumina — the crude form of the unfinished aluminum — from its source at Baton Rouge, acted as the pivot in making contact with, and helping interest William Stevenson, a site location executive for Noranda, in the New Madrid area.

"Stevenson told me in a Jefferson City meeting that we didn't have a chance to land Noranda, but we succeeded in talking him into allowing us to make Noranda a proposition," Hunter explained. "Then, bluffing our way and promising low power rates, when we barely know what a kilowatt hour was, we located parties interested in power sales and came through with what Noranda wanted."

He told how, balked by inability to secure both a grant and a loan from Economic Development, they finally talked Noranda into allowing them to include a $3 million revenue bond issue to match that amount of a grant that ADA had approved. And we were only able to make that grant because we had made an application before Congress decreed that such loans could not be made.

Hunter told how Baxter Souther, owner of Southern

the legislation saved our necks, he explained.

He also told how Noranda plans to take advantage of a trade school to gain some experienced workers. We are already well along on school plans, Hunter said. We have consolidated seven of eight schools but we will provide needed educational facilities just as we will provide needed housing, doctors, hospital facilities, streets and other needed facilities.

Turner said committees had "contacted some doctors who would locate in the area if clinics and, or hospitals were provided them. But the hospital financing folk want us to have definite commitments from doctor's, which we don't have, before they will furnish the money. We think Hill-Burton's plan a "too expensive one; taking twice as long to finance and build and less of a complete facility as privately or community owned hospitals," he pointed out. "Noranda has planned to build only one "pot line" — a series of cooking pots that extract the pure aluminum from the raw alumina — a by-product of an original bauxite product, mined in Louisiana and Texas. However Noranda, a fully integrated company, that includes production of wire, rods, aluminum castings and sheet aluminum — as a result of owning companies that handle each facet — told us they would build a wire and rod unit, after the first pot plant was finished. Then they would add another of a possible three pot setups, if they could secure enough orders. However, the wire-rod unit is under construction and we feel Noranda could well begin work on a second pot plant when the first one is finished since available labor and engineering could be retained and the second plant built at a great savings."

He predicted that "so huge will be housing demand that workers will live in all areas of the Bootheel. Wherever they find modern housing, a welcome and friendly atmosphere and easy access to the site, they will locate. Sikeston, already a rapidly growing city, could possibly secure the bulk of the workers, since New Madrid, Hayti, Charleston and other small towns do not have the facilities to offer, at this time."

In summation Turner told of the 17-story power plant that must furnish 6000,000 kilowatts of electricity to operate a single pot mill; of the anticipated need of a second steam generating plant — at a cost of $100 million — of the need for a million and a half tons of coal per year to satisfy the plant's furnaces, with four barge loads a day being required.

Turner said that "any possible locator wanted to keep all talks between an industrial representative and their company a secret. I am convinced that Henderson's publicizing the fact that Noranda had selected a site there is one big reason we were able to secure the plant," he emphasized.

In closing he predicted that location of other industries in the Bootheel area, like the soft paper mills at Cape Girardeau, the paper mill at Wickliffe; possible location of a paper mill near Caruthersville, will mean that this area will be a major manufacturing complex, if it can furnish trained workers for the industries.

"And furnish them we must, for our entire future is wrapped up in the accomplishment of this goal," the New Madrid banker concluded.

The next meeting of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce will be held in September.

Reassessment of Farm Land Completed

CHARLESTON — Notices are being prepared in the county clerk's office notifying landowners of changes in assessed valuation of their property which average 34 per cent for Mississippi County farm land.

The 34 per cent increase in rural assessments was ordered earlier this year by the State Tax Commission, but it was left to county authorities to determine how the increase should be applied.

According to Presiding Judge Bill Winchester, the board of equalization decided to reevaluate every section of farm land in the county rather than imposing a blanket increase of 34 per cent on all assessments. Some counties have used a blanket increase.

Winchester said the blanket increase route merely compounds inequalities in previous assessments. The method chosen by the county board of equalization was to physically inspect land in every section of the county, and try to assess each parcel of proportion to the value of other land.

No increase was ordered by the state tax commission in city property, and no similar reassessment of city real estate

was undertaken, Winchester said.

Information compiled by the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey, a non-government agency, shows that the 34 per cent increase in farm land assessment should produce a 22 per cent overall increase in real estate assessment in Mississippi County.

Survey figures say the increase should be from a 1968 real estate valuation of $22,727,739 to a 1969 figure of $27,774,175. These figures, however, are subject to fluctuation based on the action of the county board of equalization and appeals.

Cards informing landowners of their reassessments will be mailed within the next week, according to the office of County Clerk Arthur Lee Goodin. Persons who wish to appeal the assessments may appear before the board of appeals, which is scheduled to meet Monday, Aug. 11 at the Courthouse.

Mr. Winchester said Judge Hunter Phillips, chairman of the State Tax Commission, will be in Charleston Aug. 11 to attend the board of appeals meeting, and to explain to county taxpayers the reason behind the commission's order of a 34 per cent increase.

In full, jail sentence will be stayed during good behavior.

Young Bicyclists Take Break at Portageville

PORTAGEVILLE — The Wayfarers, a group of 35 high school and college boys riding bikes stopped over for a rest period at Hickory Village near Interstate 55 in Portageville Saturday morning.

The group started from Marion Indiana, and will travel to the Gulf of Mexico and back to Indiana for a 2000 mile bike trip. The trip will take them through 15 states. Wayfarers is an attempt both to demonstrate the vitality of the Christian life and to provide a means of increasing the rider's understanding of Jesus Christ in a context of honest masculine adventure. The riders represent many church backgrounds.

The trip serves as a rugged challenge to the rider, testing his set of values in the tough discipline of physical exhaustion and self-reliance. The riders gain a mature picture of how Jesus Christ relates to their lives as they battle the elements, study the scriptures, communicate with people along the way and experience the tremendous fellowship found only in a group working toward a common goal.
